Eucharistic Congress Held Here This Wednesday

Streets draped with the yellow and white church flag, the Mississippi State flag, and the flag of the Eucharistic Congress gave a festive air to the solemn religious ceremonies of the Diocesan Eucharistic Congress of the Diocese of Natchez, Mississippi held on Wednesday, November 29 at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Out of town visitors and local citizens and clergy who attended the congress entered the church, which was arranged with yellow gladioli, palms and red chrysanthemums, through columns draped with flags embossed with the emblem of the Blessed Sacrament.

Much credit is due the ladies of the Altar Society, working under the direction of Sister Antoinette, who were responsible for the decoration of the church.

The congress opened at 9:00 a.m. with a solemn Pontifical Mass at which His Excellency the most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, D. D., Bishop of Natchez officiated.

Music for the Mass was sung by the Choir of St. Augustine Seminary under the direction of Rev. Hubert Posnjak, S.V.D. with Mr. Charles Henry at the organ.

The sermon at the Pontifical Mass was delivered by the Rev. Joseph O. Chatham of Jackson, Miss. Father Chatham spoke on the Blessed Sacrament as the sacrifice of the Mass representing the crux of the entire Catholic faith with particular emphasis on the influence of the Blessed Sacrament in the Mass on the Catholic viewpoint.

From 2:30 until 3:30 p.m. the Right Rev. Msgr. Grzech, V.F. officiated at the Holy Hour for the children of the parish and schools and the Academy. The Holy Hour sermon was preached by The Rev. Fr. ...

Digest of Statement by Vice-Pres. Of Southern Bell Telephone Company On Proposed Excess Profits Tax

A spokesman for the Bell Telephone Companies today told the House, Ways and Means Committee that companies whose earnings are permanently regulated by Governmental authority are prevented already from making "excess profits and therefore any excess profits tax should not apply to them."

Fred J. Turner, vice-president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, represented the Bell Companies in hearings, being conducted by the committee on such a tax. He defended an excess profits tax as now proposed would be for the telephone companies, in reality a tax on less than normal profits.

Mr. Turner emphasized that the companies were fully mindful of their responsibility to pay their full share of taxes. He asked, however, that consideration be given to the fact that telephone companies' earnings were unusually low during the proposed base period of 1945-1949.

"Profit regulation, through price-fixing by Federal, state and local governmental authorities is a normal state of affairs with the telephone companies," Mr. Turner said, "and not merely a temporary or emergency condition made necessary by the stress of war."

He pointed out that this regulation—even though recognizing that earnings were and still are inadequate—is a slow process. Consequently, telephone company earnings have lagged during the post-war years behind those of non-regulated businesses which can raise prices immediately to cover increased costs.

"The invested capital" method of computing excess profits in combination with the 45 percent income tax rate, would allow earnings of only 3 1/2 percent on total capital, before the excess profits tax would begin to apply, he said.

Mr. Turner declared that such legislation might "impair" the ability of the telephone companies to fully and promptly meet the communication needs of the armed forces. Rural telephone construction also would be hard hit.

"It necessarily follows," he said, "that in any such curtailment of activities, hundreds of thousands of people needing and demanding telephone service must be forced to wait until sometime in the indefinite future when the tax laws are changed to permit earnings that will permit capital additions."

The only alternative to slashing its construction program, he said, would be to go to the various state regulator commissions for further rate increases. These increases would have to be in the ratio of "four to seven dollars for each dollar that earnings have been reduced by the excess profits tax."

Mr. Turner said that if Congress decided that an excess profits tax must be generally applicable to all corporations, then some measure should be adopted which would not preclude regulated telephone companies from earning a fair return after taxes. Otherwise, he said, "we would be compelled to curtail drastically the provision of facilities to meet the demands of an expanding economy."

The company spokesman outlined five improvements in the proposed excess profits tax which he said would minimize inequities of the previous law for all taxpayers.

He said the changes also would afford protection to the earnings of regulated business up to the level considered necessary to attract capital from investors for construction.

YOUR CHANCE TO DO A GOOD DEED

The Bay St. Louis Youth Center, under the direction of Mrs. B. R. Nobles, has started a drive for the collection of old and discarded toys which will be repaired and repainted and given at Christmas-time to some needy children, who otherwise would probably receive no toys at all.

This project is one worthy of commendation and we think it should receive the cooperation of the entire community, because we must remember that at this happy time of the year there is more genuine joy and satisfaction in giving than in receiving, knowing that in doing so we are making some child happy.

Look around your home, in the attic or in the basement, and we are sure you will find many old, broken and discarded toys, which when repaired will gladden the heart of some unfortunate youngster. When you have collected these toys notify Mrs. Nobles or some other member of the committee in charge and they will be sent for, or you may deposit them in a box at the Court House or the Youth Center.

This is just one of the many ways in which you can help to spread the Christmas spirit in your community and make it one of the happiest places on earth during this joyous Yuletide Season.

REPORT FOREST FIRES IN TIME

Forest fires cause millions of dollars worth of damage annually, and take hundreds of lives, despite the efforts of our local, state, and national governments to prevent them.

Much can be accomplished toward reducing the damage caused by forest fires if every citizen who discovers a fire will report the location of the blaze at once, says Mr. Clifton Leonard, Area Ranger of the Mississippi Forestry Commission, in Hancock County.

The commission will accept and pay for any telephone call which reports a fire in this county, says Mr. Leonard. To report a fire in this vicinity, call County Dispatcher, Emmett Ladner, telephone 2102, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., or chief crew leader Alcide Hoda or Area Ranger Clifton Leonard, after 5 p.m.

Keep this information handy and be sure to report any sign of a forest fire you may see at any time. Your quick action may save many thousands of dollars worth of timber or some one's home, besides conserving the resources of your community.

KILN SCHOOL NEWS

Kiln Consolidated School boys, enrolled in grades eight through twelve, have completed a fence around the grounds. Mr. Gerald E. Guidroz, superintendent, announced today.

Mr. Aubrey M. Penton, vocational agriculture instructor and supervisor of the veterans' program, planned the fencing project. Part of the work was done during vocational-agriculture class periods and part during study periods and off-time hours.

With the boys supervising much of the project and Mr. Penton directing operations in a general way, the fence forms part of a larger project to landscape the school grounds.

Money to finance the fencing was collected by the boys and girls through their basketball games and box suppers.

Speaking for the Board of Trustees, Mr. Sylvester S. Moran, chairman, said: "The fence, planned by Mr. Penton, built by the boys, financed by the student body, and backed by the P.T.A. faculty, and Board of Trustees is an example of what can be done through the American way of working together."

Under the direction of the faculty at large, an audio-visual room, decorations in the classrooms, and numerous other projects have been completed this year.

Plans for further improvements include sodding the lawn, building cattle gaps for both main gates, equipping the elementary playground, restoring the flower-and-plant nursery, and, among other things, possibly painting the gymnasium floor.

"Much of the work has been student-planned and student-executed," Mr. Penton said.

"The fence would not have been possible without the cooperation of many people," Mr. Guidroz added. "Many of the posts used were already on the campus. The boys and girls pitched in with a zeal that I have seldom seen anywhere. The hundred and fifty dollars which was the cost of the fence would not nearly have done the job without their help. I cannot praise the students and their friends enough for the interest they are taking in their school."

Early in the year the students cleaned the building, which is operated only eight months out of the year, and which had collected quite a bit of dust during the summer.

Following a modern educational trend, students in the school are learning through these and other projects to do things that they will be called upon as adults to do. They are operating the motion picture projector on the

CURBS ON TRAVEL NOT YET SIGHTED

Knudson Says No Plans Made for Priorities

Washington, Assurance that there are no plans in foot for curtailment of civilian travel was given today by Director James K. Knudson of the defense transportation administration.

The country has the best transportation system with which we have ever faced a national emergency, Knudson said in a radio interview arranged by the General News Service. He added: "It is not time yet to ask the question as we did in World War II. Is this trip necessary?"

If a United States Army is activated, military movements will cause some travel inconveniences, Knudson said, and military hauling at times may delay the movement of goods by rail, highway or water.

But for the average citizen, he said, there are no plans presently about that would curtail his coming and going.

Of course it is not into a full-scale emergency of any kind, it may become necessary to handle transportation on a priority basis. That is precisely what we are trying to avoid at the present time, he added.

The supply of motor fuels will depend, he said, on military developments and the ability of refineries to handle defense shipments along with the civilian demand, but it is "premature" to expect rationing.

Some transport difficulties are being encountered he said, including a "chronic and persistent shortage of railroad rolling stock which must be corrected without delay."

On DTA's recommendation, an allocation program setting aside steel for 10,000 freight cars a month has been ordered, as well as a program to build 12 Great Lakes vessels to haul increased tonnage of iron ore, limestone and ore-laden freight cars.

Knudson said the menace of sabotage has not been overlooked. Some steps are being taken and more are planned, he said, to protect railroads and inland waterways from "the possible threat of insecurity in this field."

U. S. CASUALTIES IN KOREAN WAR NOW AT 29,996

Washington—Announced American casualties in the Korean conflict rose to 29,996, an increase of 1,115 over a week ago.

The new total covers casualties about which next of kin had been notified through Friday, Nov. 17. It does not include all casualties that had occurred up to that time because of the time required to check casualty reports in the Far East, forward them to the Defense Department and notify relatives.

Of the total number of casualties, 4,993 were deaths. The number of non-fatally wounded was 20,568. An additional 4,439 had been reported missing in action. Of the latter, four had subsequently died and are included in both the "dead" and "missing" totals, 528 returned to United Nations military lines and 107 were learned to be in enemy hands. This left the number listed as currently missing on Nov. 17 at 3,800.

By far the largest number of total casualties, 25,677, was reported by the Army. Navy casualties totaled 320. Marine casualties 3,750 and Air Force 243.

TO THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND COMMISSIONERS

Do you believe in being fair and square? Well if you do, why not give your night policeman a break. He has been on night duty for more than a year. Don't you think it is about time to make a switch with one of your other men and put him on the day time? A lot of other citizens agree with me on this subject.
